Parking & Transportation Services has a variety of programs to meet your transportation needs.

Whether you need parking permits, alternative commute information, transit passes, event parking and transportation, or bike and transit information and services, we can help. For your convenience, we offer online ordering, or you can visit our office at 340 Bonair Siding from 7:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday. For more information, visit our website at transportation.stanford.edu, send email to transportation@stanford.edu, or call 650.723.9362.

Stanford University is committed to achieving the goal of “no net new peak-hour commute trips” over the life of the university’s growth plan. Faculty, staff, students, and visitors are asked to make every effort to avoid driving alone to and from campus during the peak-commute times of 8 to 9 a.m. and 5 to 6 p.m.

We can help you plan your commute, find rideshare partners, or learn the best bike routes in the area. We also offer rewards and incentives for those eligible to join the Commute Club.

This brochure summarizes the many alternative transportation options available to you. Consider an alternative commute and begin enjoying all of the financial, health, and environmental benefits available.

Emergency Ride Home

Thinking of using alternative transportation, but afraid you’ll be stranded on campus without your car in the event of a personal emergency? Register with the Emergency Ride Home (ERH) program, and if you have an emergency on a day you commute to Stanford by alternative transportation, we will arrange for a ride or rental car to get you home. Commute Club members are automatically enrolled. For details and program restrictions, visit transportation.stanford.edu/erh.

Freshman Emergency Ride Home

Open to freshman students only, this program provides a ride back to campus (up to three times per year) in the event of an emergency. To qualify for this program, you must be a freshman, be registered in advance with the program, and have a covered, verifiable need.

Examples of covered needs include the following:

- A situation where you had a ride home, but your ride left without you (within an eight-mile radius of campus)
- A time when you’ve missed the last Marguerite back to campus
- A minor accident or injury where you need to go to the Stanford Hospital or Vaden Health Center (for emergencies, call 911)

For details and to register, visit transportation.stanford.edu/frosh_erh.

Parking Permits

If you must drive to campus, you’ll need to purchase a daily, short-term, or long-term parking permit and display it on your vehicle during permit enforcement hours. Permits can be purchased online by visiting our website, by mail, or in person at Parking & Transportation Services. Visit parking.stanford.edu for more information.

Pre-tax payroll deduction for parking permits is available to benefits-eligible employees who work 20 hours or more per week and are paid through Stanford University, Stanford Health Care, or Stanford Children’s Health payroll. University employees can purchase ‘A’ or ‘C’ daily permits through payroll deduction. Learn more at transportation.stanford.edu/payrolldeduction. Order online at transportation.stanford.edu/orders.

Visitors can prepay for daily parking at Parking & Transportation Services by purchasing daily “scratchers” that can be used at any metered space or visitor parking area. Alternatively, use the Parkmobile app at one of the designated visitor parking lots or structures, or pay on site.

Need help with transportation or parking for an event? Contact eventparking@stanford.edu for help planning your event parking or charterbus@stanford.edu for information on charter bus and shuttle services. When scheduling events, please avoid peak-hour arrivals and departures whenever possible. Visit transportation.stanford.edu/events for more information.
