ON THE MOVE

Stanford Redwood City Transportation

May is National Bike Month. Take a spin, and feel like a kid again.

Bicycle commuters are among our most enthusiastic Commute Club members. To find out why, consider giving bike commuting a try during May, which is National Bike Month.

Or take it from Kevin Creed, health, safety & security manager at SRWC, who says, "I bicycle and Caltrain commute because it is the ideal transition between home and work...healthful, stress-free, very economical and environmentally sustainable."

Join us in celebrating bicycling as a healthy and happy way to get to work. In this issue, you will find bike events and incentives, including a $100 folding bike subsidy. Folding bikes are helpful if you are taking the train, so you won't be left behind if the bike car is full. Instead, you can fold and store your folding bike as luggage in the passenger car.

If you don't already have a bike—or need a new one—take Stanford's Bike Safety Pledge during May to enter to win a bike valued at $410. Walk commuters can enter to win a Walking Company gift card by stopping by a Stanford Energizer Station on May 9, Bike to Work Day. Join us!
